By Scripps-Howard Newspapers

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 15 — Jack R. Howard, president and general editorial manager of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, yesterday was elected president of the Inter-American Press Association at its 21st general assembly here.

He succeeds Pedro G. Beltran, publisher of La Prensa, Lima, Peru.

Charles E. Scripps, chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, was re-elected a director for a three-year term.

Among other officers elected were:

Julio de Mesquita Filho, editor and publisher of O Estado de Sao Paulo, Brazil, first vice president.

Lee Hills, editor of the Knight newspapers, second vice president.

Riobo Caputto, publisher of El Litoral, Santa Fe, Argentina, secretary.

John A. Brogan Jr., of the Hearst Corporation, treasurer.

Delegates to the annual assembly, representing 19 North and South American nations, approved proposals to urge action against restrictions on press freedom in such nations as the Dominican Republic and Cuba.
